

WELCOME

RESOLVED:
THAT IF YOU
WANT TO BE COOL
AND COMFORTA-BLE EAT BUSTER
BROWN BREAD AT EVERY MEAL.
BUSTER BROWN.

There Is No Bread That Can Take the Place of Buster Brown Bread

If a grocer says to you when you ask for Buster Brown Bread: "Here is another kind you will like better." Say to him, "No, thank you, I want Buster Brown Bread." Get the best. Take no substitute. Look for the label, Buster Brown Bread.

You are always welcome in our bakery.

Buster Brown Bread is wrapped in waxed paper to keep it clean and sweet from our ovens to your table—10c at all grocers.

Purity
BAKING CO.

My Reconstructive
Method Approved by Physicians
Who Know.

WE PERFECT
Unshapely Noses, Outstanding
Ears, Drooping Eyelids, Hollow
Cheeks, Baggy Skin.

WE REMOVE
Pimples and Blackheads, Wrinkles
and Scars, Smallpox, Pitting, Warts, and Moles, Freckles, Superfluous
Hair, Birth Marks.

WE CORRECT
Frowns and Furrows, Enlarged
Foreheads, Double Chin, Sallow Skin,
Red Nose.

MRS. BENSON Room 303
Herald Building

FOURTEEN UNIONS FORMED IN DOUGLAS

Douglas, Ariz., Aug. 13.—After the organization of 14 local unions in the various trades represented in Douglas, C. M. Feider, national organizer for the American Federation of Labor, has gone to Tucson. He has appointed P. B. Aaron, of this city, to be district organizer. The latest organization is that of the printers of Douglas and Bisbee, who perfected their union Sunday. The local unions have affiliated themselves with the recently formed Central Labor council.

Installation of officers in Anniversary encampment No. 6, I. O. O. F., was held with about 75 persons participating, including a delegation from Bisbee. Following the installation ceremonies a banquet was served. The officers who will serve during the next six months are: E. Leslie Kennedy, C. P.; Frank Carmichael, H. P.; Ed. Olson, Sr. W.; Albert Olson, Jr. W.; J. W. Walker, G.; D. J. Danahy, F. W.; W. B. Milligan, S. W.; N. B. Perkins, T. W.; David Davies, F. W.; P. H. Hanigan, L. S.; C. F. Strong, O. S.; Guy Jamison, F. G. of T.; Ben N. Anderson, S. G. of T. The installing team was composed of grand patriarch Wm. Hughes, D. D. grand patriarch N. B. Perkins, grand junior warden Thos. Stewart, grand senior warden A. A. Ferguson and grand high priest F. A. Sherman.

About El Pasoans

Miss Nora Lawton has returned from her vacation, spent in California, but owing to illness has not been able to attend to her duties in the city engineering office.

Mrs. David McKnight, wife of chief clerk McKnight, of the railway postal service, is recovering from an attack of typhoid fever.

A baby daughter arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Winchester Cooley in Sunset Heights Tuesday night. She weighed eight pounds and her father was receiving congratulations at the Rio Grande Valley bank Wednesday.

Out Of Town Visitors

Mrs. Minnie G. Nagley had for her guest Sunday and Monday F. W. Alden, of Delaware, Ohio.

Mrs. E. M. Bell, of St. Louis, will arrive in Cloudercroft Saturday to spend the remainder of the summer with her daughter, Mrs. A. P. Colea. She will also visit in El Paso before returning to her home.

Mrs. J. A. Jones, and sister, Mrs. G. A. Gandre, of Houston, left Tuesday morning for a few weeks' visit with relatives in Los Angeles.

Mrs. B. F. Berkeley, of Alpine, is in the city visiting Mrs. G. A. Martin, at 2311 Bliss street. Mrs. Berkeley is the wife of Dr. Ben. F. Berkeley, president of the Alpine State bank and president of the Texas Dry Farming congress.

Mrs. G. C. Whitaker and son, of San Antonio, Tex., are visiting Mrs. Whitaker's sister, Mrs. J. Lewis, of Highland Park.

Mrs. W. L. Davis, who lives at the summit, had the pleasure last week of a visit from her old friends, Judge and Mrs. W. D. Harris, of Fort Worth, Tex. Judge Harris was formerly mayor of Fort Worth.

Mrs. H. J. Aldrich and two children left yesterday for New York. They will visit friends and relatives in St. Louis and Chicago en route. Later Mrs. Aldrich expects to join her husband at Queretaro, Mex.

El Pasoans Returning

Mrs. A. A. Escontrias has returned from a six weeks' tour of the Pacific coast.

Allen, George and Robin Hale have returned from Cloudercroft, where they have been visiting their grandmother, Mrs. M. R. Blacker.

Miss Irene Crane returned yesterday from Clint, where she has been visiting Miss Josie Silva.

Mrs. Frank Adams and children returned Sunday evening from an outing in Cloudercroft.

Mrs. and Mrs. Henry Pfaff and children have returned from their week's outing at Cloudercroft.

Mrs. F. M. Filler and little daughter, Gertrude, returned from Cloudercroft Monday after a 10 days' visit. Mr. Filler went up for the week end, coming back with his family.

Mrs. E. B. McClintock and her son returned Sunday morning from Los Angeles and Ocean Park, where they have been spending the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Thomas returned Sunday night from Cloudercroft, where they had been the guests of Mrs. O. H. Baum.

Parties

On Monday evening a few intimate friends of Miss Lillie Buchos surprised her with a shower at her home. Strings were attached to the gifts and Miss Buchos was required to follow up the strings to find the gifts, which proceeding occasioned much merriment. There was music during the evening and, at its close, refreshments of ice cream, punch and cake were served. The friends participating in the shower were: Mr. and Mrs. C. E. McNamee, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Dow, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Holford, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis, Mesdames John Figueroa, J. B. Prothro, P. H. Heffron, Paul Atkinson, Laura Schwartz, May Seaton, John T. Cain, W. C. Taylor, Marie Cassens, McLean, Lulu Mattice, Sheffield, the Misses Marguerite Prothro, Marie Schwartz, Edna Seaton, Minnie Belle Taylor, Lillian Buchos.

Mrs. Dorsey Cullen entertained a few guests Monday evening at her quarters in Ft. Bliss for Miss Virginia Stewart. Those asked were: Miss Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Stewart, Gen. McNair, Scott, Col. Frank West, Maj. and Mrs. John S. Winn, Miss Helen Winn, Maj. and Mrs. Wm. F. Clark, Capt. E. D. Scott, Capt. and Mrs. Walter F. Martin, Capt. and Mrs. Roger S. Fitch, Mrs. J. M. Burroughs, Lieut. Frank M. Andrews, James S. Mooney and Selwyn Smith.

Scott White Special.

For a limited period, we are offering a special price on Foxon's Rice Powder, in white, brunette and flesh. The regular price is 40c; now special at 25c. (Mail orders accepted.)

Scott White & Co., Mills Bldg. (Advertisement.)

PHONE 1 FOR LIMOUSINE—Advertisement.

Scott White Special.

For a limited period, we are offering a special price on Foxon's Rice Powder, in white, brunette and flesh. The regular price is 40c; now special at 25c. (Mail orders accepted.)

Scott White & Co., Mills Bldg. (Advertisement.)

Conducted by MISS JESSIE KING

Telephones 2020 or 2040, day; and 2770, night.

Dances

An enjoyable dance was given Sunday evening by the Stunt club. The refreshments were ice cream, cake and fruit. Those present were: Misses Della Rosenstein, Sarah Aronson, Nettie Rosenstein, Lena Hoffman, Sadie Samuels, Fanny Snyder, Cella Levy, Freda Bohn, Pauline Feldman, Minnie Ford, Messrs. Theodore Rosenstein, Louis Aronson, Harry Hoffman, Harry Hayman, Dave Cohen, Mike Snyder, John Cohen, Max Levine, Simon Aikern, V. Wilson, Will Chernin, Chas. Levine, Ralph Aronson and Jacob Rosenster.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuels, Mrs. Ida Hoffman and Mr. and Mrs. Max Rosenstein chaperoned the party.

PHONE LONGWELL FOR TAXI—Advertisement.

Cards

Mrs. J. W. Lorentzen was hostess Tuesday morning for the Auction Bridge club. In addition to the members of the club there were present Mrs. J. G. Barada, Mrs. Clyde Holmes and Mrs. Grover Smith. The club prize was won by Mrs. H. E. Christie and the guest prize by Mrs. Barada. Refreshments were served at the close of the game. The club will meet next week with Miss Madge Brick.

The recently organized bridge club will meet Friday with its organizer and president, Mrs. Joseph Hurxthal, 2400 Frutas street. The new organization will go by the name of the Friday Bridge club.

Miss Marion Young entertained a few friends this evening with a buncio party and a bridge party Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. George Evans entertains a few friends at bridge tomorrow afternoon.

An occasional facial massage is necessary for perfect cleanliness as well as an aid to beauty. Elite Parlor, 216 Texas St.—Advertisement.

Latest Photograph of Mrs. J. H. Hanan, Who Lost Jewels

Although it has been reported in Newport that the hunt for the $250,000 worth of lost gems belonging to Mrs. J. H. Hanan, had been given up and most of the jewelry recovered, Talmot Smith Hanan, son of the millionaire shoe man, stated that this report was false. He said that his mother had gone away from Newport to rest with friends and escape notoriety and had not gone to Boston to recover her stolen property.

Need Glasses? Ask Segall

The Question of Price

WHILE it is poor economy to buy optical work on the basis of price alone, yet we wish to emphasize that the Segall optical service—though the best obtainable in El Paso—is not high priced. In fact, considering the character of our work, our charges are most nominal.

In this connection, we also wish to call your attention to our one-price system. We have one price for every class of work we do and this price is strictly adhered to.

Segall Optical Co.
230 Mesa Avenue

The El Paso School For Girls

Typical Eastern School Located in the Heart of the Southwest.

BOARDING AND DAY SCHOOL.

Miss Ora W. L. Slater, A. B., Wellesley—Miss Olga E. Tafel, University of Cincinnati—Principals.

College preparatory and Elective courses, strong Intermediate and Primary departments. Music, Art, Modern Languages, Domestic Science. Resident teacher in charge of physical training and outdoor life. Home life one of culture and refinement. The school possesses the great advantage of Eastern college teachers, methods, ideals and influence, and is particularly adapted to give special attention to the individual need of the pupil. For year book and information address:

MRS. FRANCES S. WEIL.

1111 Terrace St., Sunset Heights.

El Paso, Texas.

El Pasoans Away

Miss Hallie Irvin has been visiting Mrs. G. G. Seaton, a former El Pasoan, at Long Beach. Miss Irvin will return the latter part of the month, coming back by way of the Grand Canyon.

Miss Winifred Wilson is in Cloudercroft for a week or two. Miss Wilson and Miss Eliza Taylor are together at the Y. W. C. A. cottage.

Misses Georgia Stewart, Lois Walker and Kathleen Ferris went up to Cloudercroft Tuesday and will spend two weeks at the Y. W. C. A. cottage.

Mrs. R. W. Long and her sister, Miss Edna Long, will leave tomorrow for their home in St. Louis. They will also visit in Chicago and Indiana.

O. C. Coles has gone to Cloudercroft to spend the remainder of the week with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace spent the week end at Cloudercroft.

Scott White Special.

For a limited period, we are offering a special price on Foxon's Rice Powder, in white, brunette and flesh. The regular price is 40c; now special at 25c. (Mail orders accepted.)

Scott White & Co., Mills Bldg. (Advertisement.)

AUTO FOR HIRE. PHONE 1—Advertisement.

You Men Who Have Wives

Must realize that you've a duty toward your wife. You must protect her and save her all the unnecessary labor.

Need We Argue for the GAS RANGE? Hardly!

No Home Should be Without a Gas Range

SATAN'S BEST FRIEND IS A

"No Account" Cooking Stove

You may be doing good baking—things prepared in your stove's oven may taste very good, but you are not doing as good baking—things don't taste nearly so good as they would if you were baking them in a Gas Range.

GAS RANGES SOLD ON TIME. CONNECTIONS FREE.

El Paso Gas & Electric Co.

425 N. Oregon

Phone 3398

P. S.—Pay your gas bill before the 15th and save the discount.

STUART

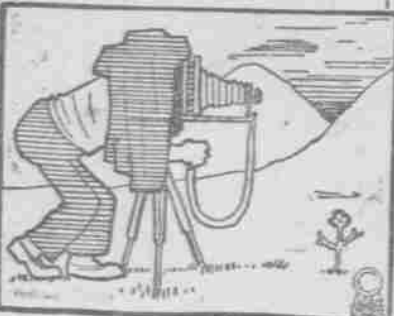

Expert Developing and Printing

Bring your films to us—our experts take pains to have every picture at its best.

Years of this kind of work for El Paso amateurs have demonstrated to all our special facilities and ability to insure the best results.

Stuart's Studio

210 Mesa

Her Forty Years in a Real Moroccan Harem

THE English girl of good family who, in 1874, married His Majesty the Shareef of Wazan, Morocco, and who, after nearly forty years in the harem, still lives among her adopted people, has told her experiences in a book called "My Life Story."

"Emily, Shareefa of Wazan," as she is named on the title page, said goodbye to the Christian world at the British Legation in Tangier, where she was married to the Shareef. A young and spirited girl of exceptional beauty, she rode up to the Legation on an Arab steed. When, presently, she rode away her royal husband rode by her side. From that day she never looked back.

The Shareef was a man of enlightened views, and made it clear that his wife's word was to be law in his dominions. In order to give his English bride an undisputed position, he divorced before the marriage that small battalion of wives which is the essential appanage of every prosperous household in the East. The children they had borne him were packed off with their mothers.

The position of the new wife when there are a number of supplanted ones in the same country is not an enviable one. Walls may be a sufficient shield against the jeweled dagger or the silver brooch-pin, but they cannot exclude so effectively those underhand influences which steal in like the wind where there is no visible crevice for its entrance.

Under these circumstances the English Shareefa took the step of a bold diplomatist, and, without showing the slightest signs of fear, paid a visit to each of the aggrieved ladies, and so won them over by her tact and gentleness that they ended in becoming her warmest friends instead of her bitterest enemies.

The birth of a son to the Shareefa gives an opportunity for further description of Eastern habits and customs. Here it is usually supposed that quiet should reign in the house on such occasions, but the Moors heralded the event by creating a racket that could be equalled only by a Fourth of July celebration here.

When the mother gave orders for the child to be bathed it was firmly believed that she intended to murder it, and it was with difficulty that she prevented its being bottled up in the sacklike clothing in which Moorish children are confined during their early years. In her own small way the Shareefa seems to have done a good deal to introduce better notions of hygiene among her husband's subjects. Hundreds of children and adults were vaccinated by her own hands.

The Eastern women, as revealed in the Shareefa's story, do not seem after all to differ so much from their fairer sisters. Their talk and views of life are very much what might be found among uneducated classes in our own country. Their horizon is narrow, their outlook bounded by the lattices of the harem, and as a consequence their conversation is limited to dress, to the health of their children, to the last ceremony they were allowed to attend and to the misdeeds of their sisters.

The marriage ceremony, which is described at length from the woman's point of view, is full of quaint customs and quaint symbolism. Five whole days are occupied by the various rites performed. Gifts are confined almost entirely to offerings of money, and the alarming custom of proclaiming with a loud voice how much each guest has contributed is kept up in a way that would not commend itself to American ideas.

As has been indicated, the course of the Shareefa's life ran smoothly at the beginning. Not only did she succeed in being mistress in her own house, but she even accompanied her husband on some important missions into the interior.

For many years all seemed to go well between the Shareef and his wife. Then a sudden change began to display itself. According to the Shareefa, this was largely accounted for by a mental malady which overtook the Moorish ruler, and excited beyond all limits the natural suspiciousness and timidity of his character. Dread of assassination haunted him, evil associates whom his wife discouraged influenced his judgment, and he commenced an extraordinary course of conduct, in which he alternately repulsed and courted the woman who had made such sacrifices to make him happy.

A weaker woman would have fled from the atmosphere of the intrigue and counterplot which now enveloped her, but the Shareefa never blinched. Sometimes she yielded, sometimes she opposed her husband's whims. She prevented him from being robbed by unscrupulous concession hunters, she thwarted the arts of the lurking poisoner, and combated with her own hands the more deadly attacks of insidious disease.

The Shareef had no sooner divorced her than he wanted her back again, and in the end the Englishwoman won the battle. She was summoned to her husband's death bed, and when post horses brought her at midnight to the room where the Shareef lay dying, with his sons and ministers around him, he clasped her hand before them all and welcomed her as his wife again.